Don't Overlook This

A Careful Perusal Will Prove Its Value to Every Advertiser Reader.

The average man is a doubter, and there is little wonder; that this is so. Misrepresentations make people skeptics. Now-a-days the public ask for better evidence than the testimony of strangers. Here is proof which should convince every Advertiser reader.

W. F. Cotton, farmer, Deering St., Norway, Me., says: "I was glad to find a remedy that would cure me of kidney trouble and backache. I had suffered for a long time. Some days the trouble would be so bad I could hardly do anything. I seemed to be sore all over, and my back pained constantly. The kidney secretions were irregular in passage and there was a great deal of sediment in them. Doan's Kidney Pills were so highly praised that I finally got a box, and they gave me relief right away. In a short time I was cured. I got this remedy at Stone's Drug Store and recommend it highly." 14 15

SOUTH WATERFORD.

Annual Parish Meeting.

The annual parish meeting of the Methodist church was held on Saturday afternoon, March 23, at 1:30 o'clock. W. K. Hamlin acted as moderator. The following named members were elected as officers of the parish for the ensuing year:

Clerk—John Shaw.
Trustees—E. K. Kilgore, John Atherton, G. W. Hamlin, and Geo. F. Hill.

The following named citizens were proposed and unanimously elected as members of the parish: Geo. F. Hill, Albert W. Hamlin, Harold S. Noble and Thomas W. Hardy.

The financial condition of the parish was reported to be good. While visible membership of the Methodist church of Waterford which in former years was represented by many of the best families, who supported a prosperous church, has in late years declined and the Sunday school and church meetings, those two institutions so vital to the spiritual stability of the church, remembered by only a few who survive, it seems incumbent on a few of those who inherit the traditions of the former years and the interests of the fathers and mothers of the old church to conserve their inheritance in a manner honorable to themselves, and in reverence to those who laid the foundations of religious society in the early years of the town's history, to keep alive the sacred memories of the devoted and pious who so nobly sustained the institutions of the church during their long lives.

For that reason the members of the parish have taken the custody of the finances and the records of all the former transactions of the church in its business capacity, are resolved to perpetuate the respectful remembrances of the pioneer fathers and mothers of Methodism in Waterford.

The handsome church edifice is in excellent condition and, six years ago under the pastorate of Rev. Edwin A. Rumball (not a preacher of the Methodist church, but a minister employed by the parish as a Christian people) was internally remodelled and handsomely decorated with new carpeting, new heating stoves.

The cost was about $750, that sum being all contributed by the pew owners, citizens of the town and other persons friendly to the worshipping society and to the cause of regular religious services in the village church which had for more than half a century been consecrated to divine worship, and the scene of many happy spiritual reunions of the faithful worshippers at the sacred altar.

Thus has the revered temple of Zion, the most conspicuous monument to the memory of the departed saints of our beloved church been preserved to the use of the present and future generations of Christian worshippers, and thus may the living community in whose midst this eloquent reminder of older times and of a revered ancestry, yet stands, be admonished to improve the responsibility bequeathed to them by those who have builded and cherished this means of celebrating the worship of God.

With these feelings, and with emotions of thankfulness for the glorious past and of hopefulness for a more glorious future the little parish society discussed the subject of providing ample means for necessary supplies for the stated uses of the church on Sundays or other days, and for making the pews, with a few exceptions, free for all desiring to attend the Sunday service.

W. K. Hamlin has given a supply of fuel during the past year and has donated a sufficient supply for the church for the present.

It is expected that the Sunday School, which was suspended some time ago, will resume its regular session in a few weeks.

Saturday, March 23, was a grange night. Bad roads caused a rather light attendance, and in the absence of the Worthy Master, McElroy, his chair was taken by Worthy Lecturer Pike who appointed officers pro tem to fill several vacant chairs and the official business went on like clock work. The committee on entertainment presented the following program:

Music, March.....Photograph
Reading.....John Muller
Music.....Grace McKenney
Reading.....Leah Day
Music.....Mae McKenney
Question: What are the best varieties of apple trees to set in this locality?
Opened by Brother Will Haynes who explained the importance of the Baldwin and McIntosh Red. Other speakers consisted with Brother Haynes.

A comedy drama followed in which the members of the committee appeared as actors. The title of the play was "Obstinacy."

The one-act scene presented a dining table set for four persons.

George, a negro servant.....Charles McKenney
Robert Austin, a bridegroom.....John Muller
Grace Austin, bride.....Leah Day
Mr. Kent, father of the bride.....Walker Newcomb
Mrs. Kent, mother of the bride.....Grace McKenney

The story of the play opened with Robert and Grace seated at table, waited on by their servants, when a domestic controversy arose between the newly married couple in which the bride was accused of "obstinacy." From that the domestic quarrel was charged with sensational incidents, bride's sobs and tears, and protests of husband, while a contagion of obstinacy prevailed in the household, even to the colored servants. When a separation of Robert and Grace seemed imminent, the parents of the bride arrived on the scene as visitors and were lovingly received, but were hardly seated at table when the tears of the bride caused the mother to exclaim, "Why, Grace, what is the matter?" and Grace replied, "Oh, Robert and I are loving each other any more." Then ensued a general fullscale of direct and counter accusations and the peace of the domestic group was sadly broken, until duly restored by mutual concessions and peace again declared, which was made evident by a fine family reunion in tableau.

The Waterford and Norway Cow-testing association held its monthly meeting at Grange hall on Wednesday, March 19, W. W. Abbott, president, Russell Smith, State milk inspector, was the principal speaker. About 50 members and ladies were in attendance, and an excellent dinner was served by the resident members.

Children's Column.

Dear Little Chums:—Although we have weekly read the interesting contributions to the Children's Column, we have been unable to write anything ourselves as we have been sick with the measles. Did any of you ever have the measles? It is a kind of speckly disease and its lots of fun—especially when you're twine. The "spotting process" took some time with us, but we are feeling fine now, only not up to rhyming.

Have you picked any "pussies" this spring? We got some nice ones yesterday, but on the way home we had an accident (evidently our lucky start wasn't with us.) We were crossing a meadow when, down we went into a mud-hole. Perhaps you wouldn't believe it, but we got rather soiled and had to be washed and hung out on the line, that is, our clothes did, and we haven't been out since. We may have to stay in a whole week for it is rather damp out, and consequently not very good drying weather.

We were very glad to read that most of you little people have pets. We have a pony and we call him "Frisky." He is quite aged and doesn't like to hurry. Our mamma and our papa won't let us use a whip, but in the summer time when the flies get on him and bite he runs some, thinking to get away from them. But we twine love him if he is old and slow.

Suppose you all have, or rather, will have, flower gardens. We had one last season, but it didn't thrive so very well. Guess it was because it didn't get weeded as much as it ought. One of us (we forget which one) didn't like to weed, but anyway, we are going to do better this year.

We were much pleased to see a letter from our old friend, Ina May, and think she is pretty smart to have so many riddles. We will make a try at her last one: Wasn't the piece of the elder one's daughter or the younger one? To the riddle about George Washington. Because he was both upright and grand. Do they fit?

We must close now. We haven't any Sunday verses, but how do these sound?

There is a little fellow,
He talks through his hat,
He thinks he knows a whole lot—
But he doesn't—that's PAT.
I know a little girl,
She has a little curl,
And she's most always jolly,
Sometimes she's sad,
Which makes us all sad.
This little girl is—FOLLY.

Norway, Me., March 27, 1913.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure acts directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

WEST FRYEBURG.

The Stirling Club.

Wednesday, March 10, the Stirling Literary club met at the home of Mrs. Edith

L. McKee. There was a good attendance and a lively interest displayed in the lesson for the day. The readers were Mrs. Meserve, Miss Hutchins, Mrs.

Andrews, Mrs. McKee and Mrs. Hill.

An interesting selection from 'The Bay View' magazine giving the history of New Orleans, its people, their amusements including the famous Mardi Gras festival, the beauty of the Creole women, the wonderful salubrity of its climate, its flowers, fruits, etc.

Mention was made of a former member of the club from its organization,

Mrs. J. Alvin Jones, whose death occured in Bridgton, March 15, after a short illness, and whose remains were brought for interment to the cemetery in West

Fryeburg, Tuesday, March 18, in the Jones family lot.

Mrs. Jones served the club in one or another office almost constantly, as its secretary and treasurer for several years successively and was also several terms chosen as its president. Mrs. Jones was a book lover and was a long time the custodian of the club's little library and entered with enthusiasm into all the literary interests of its life during her residence in West Fryeburg, which terminated in her removal to Bridgton three years ago.

Mrs. Jones taught school in Conway,

N. H., before her marriage, in which town was the latter home of her parents

until their removal to the Wiley homestead now owned and occupied by Frank

Smith.

Mrs. Jones was a member of the Universalist church and active in its social work of its Guild. Her memory will long be treasured by members of the Stirling

Literary club.

SHUT UP, PAY UP, GRIN AND SIZZ!

When summer comes and perspiration sizzles on your brow. Don't act the bull and kick up a big row. Mind, it was you when winter froze your whiskers white. That yelled for summer—yelled both day and night. Now sweat and sweat and sweat away—Yes, sweat your shirt the livelong day.

When summer comes and blisters rise upon your ally hand. And bumps along your bruised backbone stand. Remember it was you who said: "Why, diggin' garden's a delight. Compared with shovelin' coal it's out of sight!" Now, here's the chance to prove your statement true. Hang to that spade if you get black and blue.

When summer comes and with the ice-man you must settle. And wife's vacation trips take all your yellow metal. Don't rip and swear. Remember, it was you. Knocked at the coalman all the winter through. You're the fellow cried for summer. Here it is. So shut up, pay up, grin and sizz!

C. M. BARNITZ.

THE PIGEON GYMNASIUM.

Those calico colored pigeons that fly round and round granddad's barn and to the hills and back again were tough and dry because they did too many flying stunts. The modern method gives pigeons just enough exercise to keep them healthy.

This is afforded by the fly, the pigeon gymnasium, where they exercise in the air and get the sun.

There is thus less crowding and confusion in the loft, where lovey doves are billing and cooing, bridal pairs are building nests and parent pigeons are feeding squabs, and the loft is easier kept clean.

A fly fourteen feet long, eight feet wide and eight feet high, attached to

IN THE FLY. a house eight feet square, seven feet front and five feet back with shed roof affords excellent accommodations for 100 birds.

Select a well drained level site with porous soil and face fly south. Excavate ground in fly about four inches and fill in with clean sand and renew every three months. Cover with fine mesh to shut out sparrows and place sunning and exercise boards around sides of fly and on left front, but use no roosts in center, as birds will fly against them and receive injury.

Use doors with spring hinges and locks and feed, water and bathe birds in fly as much as possible. Place tobacco stems and hay in protected corner of fly so pairs must exercise to get it.

A tree that throws shade on part of the fly tempers the heat and breaks the wind.

DON'TS.

Don't worry about little things unless they are those that you have been delaying from day to day to do tomorrow. As cigarette are nails in a smoker's coffin, so neglected details bust a business often.

Don't worry if you get some knocks from buyers even if you have treated them square. Some knock because they know no better, some because they want the earth for their money and others because afflicted with nule mentality.

Don't feed tainted green bone. It means ptomaine poisoning, which is manifested among poultry in deadly limberneck.

Don't feed sunflower seed in large quantities. It has much waste matter and is hard to digest.

Don't figure on keeping a hen for $1 per year because some other fellow so reports. At the present cost of feed very few are boarding hens at such a low rate.

Some figures which have been compiled the past season on the subject of pasture for hogs are interesting and may be put to good use next spring in providing such pasture. They show that an acre of mixed oats, rape and clover produced $31 pounds of pork at a cost of $3.34 per hundred; clover alone, 74 pounds at $3.51 per hundred; rape, 718 pounds at $3.44 per hundred; rape and Canada field peas, 694 pounds at $3.93 per hundred; while an acre of blue grass and timothy produced 367 pounds of pork at a cost of $3.81. It is interesting to note the economical production of pork with the first two pastures, in which clover appears. Had alfalfa pasture been available in the experiment it would probably have made an even better showing than did the clover.

The Scrap Book

Made Use of His Creditor.

Whistler once bought some tapestries of a Frenchman named Barthe, who, not being able to get his account settled, called one evening for the money. He was told that Whistler was not in. But there was a cab waiting at the door, and he could hear his debtor's voice. So he pushed past the maid, and, as he afterward related, "Upstairs I find him before a little picture painting and behind him ze buzzers. Greaves holding candles. And Vistlaire, he say, You ze very man I want; hold a candle! And I hold a candle. And Vistlaire he paint and he paint, and zen he take ze picture and he rush downstairs, and he get in ze cab and he drive off, and we hold ze candle, and I see him no more."—Famous Houses and Literary Shrines of London, by A. St. John Adcock.

Three Words of Strength.

There are three lessons I would write, Three words as with a burning pen, In tracings of eternal light, Upon the hearts of men:

Have hope. Though clouds environ round, And Gladness hides her face in scorn, Put off the shadow from thy brow.

No night but hath its morn.

Have faith. Where'er thy bark is driven, The calm'st of port, the tempest's mirth, Know this: God rules the host of heaven, The inhabitants of earth.

Have love—no love alone for only, But man as man thy brother call, And scatter, like the drenching sun, Thy charities on all.

Thus grave these lessons on thy soul, Hope, faith and love, and thou shalt find Strength when life's surges rudest roll, Light when thou dost also wert blind.

—Johann C. F. Schiller.

A Quick Recovery.

A Cleveland lawyer and a Cleveland railroad man went to a theater in that city. The railroad man saw a flashily dressed, red faced, sporty-looking citizen sitting in one of the boxes.

This man was the no account cousin of the attorney, but the railroad man did not know it.

"Who is the tough person sitting in the box?" the railroad man asked pleasantly.

"He looks like a drunken burglar."

"That," said the attorney, "is my cousin."

The railroad man gasped a couple of times, but soon got a grip on himself and remarked genially, "Well, I went straight to headquarters for information, didn't I?"—Saturday Evening Post.

Teaching Him His Place.

A man who was traveling in the mountains stopped at a cabin and asked for a drink of water. An old woman brought it out to him, and after drinking he had quite a talk with her, telling her great stories about some of the wonders he had seen in the outside world.

Finally when he stopped to take breath the old woman took the pipe out of her mouth and said:

"Stranger, if I knowed as much as you do I'd go somers' and start a little grocery."—Everybody's.

A King Who Would Be Loved.

An eccentric monarch who Frederick the Great, whom his subjects called "Old Fritz." One day in passing along the streets of Berlin he noticed that a man left the sidewalk as he approached and crossed over to the other side of the street. The king called him back and asked why he had done so.

The poor fellow began to tremble and stammered, "Because you are the king, and I am afraid of you."

"Afraid of me?" shouted the monarch. "I don't want my subjects to be afraid of me, but to love me. I will teach you a lesson." And he began to beat the man with his cane, crying out:

"Next time when you meet me don't cross the street, but greet me with eyes that betoken love. Do you understand?"

And the unlucky culprit, cowering beneath the vigorous blows of the royal walking stick, promised that he would not fear but love the king.

A Chance He Missed.

Joseph Chamberlain and the late Sir William Hargood were fierce political rivals, but warm personal friends. On one occasion in 1886 Mr. Chamberlain was staying at Malwood, Sir William's home. The guests were inscribing their names in the visitors' book, one page of which was already full, when it came to Mr. Chamberlain's turn.

"Now is the great chance of your life, Chamberlain," said Sir William. "You will be able to turn over a new leaf."

"I will be hanged if I do!" retorted Mr. Chamberlain, and he turned the book around and wrote his name on the margin of the full page.

The Easy Laxative

In justice to yourself you should try Rexall Orderlies,—your money back if you don't like them. They are a candy confection that really do give easy relief from constipation.

Good health is largely dependent upon the bowels. When they become sluggish the waste material that is thrown off by the system accumulates. This condition generates poisons which circulate throughout the body, tending to create coated tongue, bad breath, headache, dull brain action, nervousness, biliousness and other annoyances.

Avoid harsh cathartics and physic. They give but temporary relief. They often aggravate the real trouble. They are particularly bad for children, delicate or aged persons.

Rexall Orderlies

Come in tablet form, taste just like candy and are noted for their easy, soothing action upon the bowels. They don't purge, gripe, cause nausea, looseness, nor the inconveniences attendant upon the use of purgatives. Their action is so pleasant that the taking of Rexall Orderlies almost becomes a desire instead of a duty.

Children like Rexall Orderlies. They are ideal for aged or delicate persons as well as for the most robust. They act toward relieving constipation, and also to overcome its cause and to make unnecessary the frequent use of laxatives. They serve to tone and strengthen the nerves and muscles of the bowels and associated organs or glands.

Make Us Prove It

We guarantee to refund every penny paid us for Rexall Orderlies if they do not give entire satisfaction. We ask no promise and we in no way obligate you. Your mere word is sufficient for us to promptly and cheerfully refund the money.

Doesn't that prove that Rexall Orderlies must be right? You must know we would not dare make such a promise unless we were positively sure that Rexall Orderlies will do all we claim for them. There is no money risk attached to a trial of Rexall Orderlies, and in justice to yourself, you should not hesitate to test them.

Rexall Orderlies come in convenient vest-pocket size tin boxes; 13 tablets, 10c.; 36 tablets, 25c.; 80 tablets, 50c.

CAUTION: Please bear in mind that Rexall Remedies are not sold by all drug stores. You can buy Rexall Orderlies only at The Rexall Stores.

Tobacco Should be Smoked Up As Soon as it's Cut Up

Then it is bound to be fresh—to smoke cool and sweet—because the natural moisture hasn't a chance to escape. That's the reason experienced smokers stick to the good old Sickle plug—slice off a fresh pipeful as they need it—and get all the original flavor and fragrance that have been pressed in the plug, and kept there by the natural leaf wrapper.

These smokers could save a minute's time by getting their tobacco already cut up—but they know it would also be dried up, would burn fast and bite their tongues.

You'll find solid satisfaction in smoking Sickle. And you'll get more tobacco, because there is no package to pay for. Your dealer sells Sickle.

Know Paint.

There's a paint-education in this advertisement.

Buy by the job, not gallon. Buy by the paint put-out; that's the job.

The price of paint is so much a gallon; that can't be helped, but amounts to nothing.

The price of painting is so much a day; that can't be helped, but amounts to nothing.

Put them together. How can you do it? You've got to lose perhaps half of your money.

Devoe, 10 gallons enough for the average job; an average paint, 15. Now reckon your costs. Count labor a day for a gallon. Devoe 10 days; the other 15.

Devoe about $50; the average paint about $70 or $80; the dealer the labor the bigger the difference, always that way.

But that's for the job. How long is it going to last? One twice as long as the other.

Doctors Said He Had Dropsy.

Some time ago I had an attack of grippie which finally settled in my kidneys and bladder. I doctored with the doctors and they claimed I had dropsy. I tried other remedies and got no relief from any of them. My condition was such that I was unable to work for about two months and the annoying symptoms caused me a great deal of trouble and pain. I was hardly able to turn over in bed. Seeing one of your almanacs, I decided to give Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root a trial and after taking several bottles was able to resume my work again. I cannot say too much in praise of your Swamp-Root as the results in my case were truly wonderful.

Yours very truly,
